Here Are Beef And Dairy Cattle Champions

In today's edition are the Star's pictures of the Beef and Dairy Cattle Grand Champions photographed Wednesday at the third District Livestock Show.

TOP — CHAMPION HERE-FORD BULL — "G. C. Vagabond Eleven," owned by Glen Wallace, Nashville. The handler is Robert Childs, Glencrest Farm manager.

Rain Delays But Doesn't Stop Show Parade

Nearly four and a half inches of rain during the past 24 hours delayed yesterday's Third District Livestock Show's rodeo parade an hour and as if by magic stopped long enough for the parade to be held and started again.

It was an exception parade in view of conditions and certainly attracted one of the largest crowds in history according to City Police. All downtown streets were packed.

Following the parade rain started falling again and continued right on up to about 10 a.m. Despite the wetness the Livestock Show Coliseum was completely filled for the first performance of the rodeo which featured Cowboy Star Tex Ritter whose songs were the highlight of the show.

At the end of the rodeo the midway got a big play and was all set to get into full swing when a downpour hit and the people fled for cover.

This afternoon is designed school day and students will be admitted free to Fair park. Black, heavy rainclouds hung low overhead throughout Friday morning.

However, rain or shine the rodeo will stage its second performance in the huge, enclosed Coliseum. The rodeo itself received nothing but praise from first night viewers and of course, Tex Ritter, received a big ovation. The show has some of the meanest stock ever seen here and the crowd got a kick out of several of the angry Brahman bulls who cleared the arena time and again.

Headed by Dr. Dolph Camp and the Southern State College Band the parade took some 30 minutes to pass. Other bands included two from Hope High School of Hope Lewisville, Nashville, Prescott and Washington High of Texarkana.

Despite the weather there were many creditable floats with Emmet High School taking top honors. Bodcaw school was judged second and Nashville's Terra Firma Garden Club a close third and Garland PTA fourth. Honorable mention in the float division was Ogleby PTA for their safety theme.

In the boys' bicycle division David Morris was first, George Peck Jr., second and Danny Keeley third.

Girls' bicycle division, Joyce Collier took first; Ann Ward second and Susan Forester third.

Guy Watkins Jr., won the pet division honors with Robert Malcolm Byers second.

Parade judges were Mrs. Agee Gilbert, Mrs. Sam McGill and Mrs. Chester Anderson, all of Fulton.

Prize winners in each division can pick up their checks at the Hope Chamber of Commerce office.

Clearing Land Demonstration Is Wednesday

The public is invited to see a land clearing demonstration Wednesday afternoon, October 6, 1954, on the Fred Cainness farm adjacent to U.S. Highway 82 four miles west of Lewisville.

This event is under the joint sponsorship of the Lafayette County Soil Conservation District and Southern Equipment Company, Monroe, Louisiana. The principal feature will be a large tractor equipped with torque-converted and a V-type scalloped blade that shears large trees flush with the ground.

In keeping with fire prevention week the Arkansas Forestry Commission will also demonstrate modern fire detection and suppression methods for Cub Scout Pack No. 69 at the site of the land clearing under that the scouts may see the demonstration.

Memphis Girl Is Cotton Picking Queen

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark. — Brown-eyed Janice Bowles of Memphis is the queen of the National Cotton Picking Contest. She was named last night as the festival got under way.

The 18-year-old freshman at Memphis State College was Tennessee's entry in the Miss Universe contest. Her first prize is a $500 cotton wardrobe and a week trip to Havana, Cuba.

The festival continues through today, with the nation's top cotton picker being named and Gov. Frank Clemon of Tennessee delivering the address.

Informed sources said the three occupying powers agreed to make only limited use of the occupation statute after this nine-power conference is ended. This would ease the occupation even before West Germany becomes an independent nation.

The Allied concession was designed to give Chancellor Konrad Adenauer some immediate freedom to report to his countrymen. It will be contained in a declaration of intent by the Big Three Western Allies that is expected to be proclaimed at noon (7 a.m. EST) tomorrow.

Only a minor technical detail that could be cleaned up in short order remained after the Big Three foreign ministers met on the sovereignty question.

The full rearmament conference met to complete agreements on a formula for controlling European armaments, including those of a sovereign West Germany.

The Big Three declaration of intent was said to stipulate the Allied aims on giving the federal republic sovereignty. It will produce an "immediate effect" by preventing certain Allied measures now being taken under the occupation statute from being carried out without prior German consent, the sources predicted.

They said the ministers worked in an extremely cooperative spirit.

Authoritative sources said the conference already had agreed to give the supreme commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) powers to enforce European armaments controls.

These sources said the commander who will be given authority over the employment of troops on the European continent including American forces based there.

Only a few minor details of the armaments controls arrangements remain to be settled, delegates said.

The full conference session met after the United States, Britain, France and Germany held in extended session to thrash out final details restoring sovereignty to Germany.

The new formula controlling European armaments was expected to be approved by the full conference within the next 48 hours, authoritative sources said.

Big 3 Agree to Sovereignty for Germany

By WILBUR G. LANDREY

LONDON (UPI) — The United States, Britain and France agreed in principle today to issue a declaration of intent to restore West German sovereignty and to relax their occupation even before full sovereignty is effective.

Informed sources said the three occupying powers agreed to make only limited use of the occupation statute after this nine-power conference is ended. This would ease the occupation even before West Germany becomes an independent nation.

The Allied concession was designed to give Chancellor Konrad Adenauer some immediate freedom to report to his countrymen. It will be contained in a declaration of intent by the Big Three Western Allies that is expected to be proclaimed at noon (7 a.m. EST) tomorrow.

National Newspaper Week

OCT. 1-8 1954

THIS IS NATIONAL NEWSPAPER WEEK. As the official poster above tells you, the keynote is that your newspaper is a forum of freedom, a meeting ground for open discussion of viewpoints. Like other publications, newspapers have sometimes been used for purposes that have not been granted. This is the first of a series telling you how newspapers let each citizen know what his fellows are doing and thinking.

The president of the Delaware chapter of the National Assembly of the Free Press, Mr. John C. Doherty, said:

"I am deeply concerned about the fate of our free press. I am afraid that it will be automatically reviewed by three boards. A fourth appeal then will be made to a board of three civilians."

"I can take it," Batchelor said when the verdict was announced. But his mother, Mrs. Clara Mae Batcher, was less sanguine.

"When she continued sobbing, I asked her, 'What's the matter?'"

"I was prepared for it," Mrs. Batcher said later in an interview. "But it hit me sort of hard. She began to cry again.

"Most of us get along fine for a job than we feel we should. We're not really bad people, but we do care about the welfare of others."

Segregation Group Is Successful

By BILL LUFTUO

MILFORD, Del. — Triumphing segregation forces today won the temporary defeat of integration in Milford's high school is "the first step toward our ultimate goal of making sure that Negroes attend schools in the state," said the Rev. Ernest Holloway Jr., missionary to Japan, who will speak and show pictures in the First Baptist Church on Monday evening at 7:30.

Ex-Committee Leader Dies

LAUREL SPRINGS, N.C. (UPI) — Robert L. Doughton, chairman of the House Way and Means Committee, died yesterday at Franklin Roosevelt and Truman administrations, was found dead in bed at his home here today. He was 59. Doughton, who introduced more tax bills than any man in U.S. history and authored the country's first social security law, retired from Congress in 1946. He had served as a representative. Since he had limited his activities but had made occasional speeches in support of his party, he was known as "the living legend." He was a member of the Democratic delegation to the 1948 convention.

Doughton, 72, died Saturday morning at his home in Laurel Springs, N.C., surrounded by his wife, children and grandchildren. His wife, Mrs. Mary Doughton, said he had been suffering from heart trouble for some time.

DALE J. GONALES

DETROIT (UPI) — The United Auto Workers Union has decided Noel Field, 52, of Birmingham, although "deceased," assumed his post as president of the UAW yesterday. The auto workers reported Field dead today. They were surprised to learn that he had died Saturday, a high ranking police official from Birmingham said, who was taken into custody.

The conference yesterday told the inside story of Field's disappearance.

Field, 52, died Saturday night in 1949

in Birmingham, Mo., while en route to a meeting of UAW leaders.

Field's disappearance about the same time was later

attributed to Field's efforts to keep the UAW more independent of the CIO.

Field's disappearance demanded the release of all three fields in Pennsylvania yesterday. Meanwhile, sources disclosed

that the Wallach, a German Fields, informally

known as the "Wallach,"

had been found dead in the bathtub of an American woman he married to an American woman.

Field's death was described as the "West of the West" since he had access to both political and community life in the Polish Communists were devoted to the government and not to the U.S. Government.

Field, who worked for the government from 1922 until

1949, vanished in 1949

and was never seen again.

He had been a member of the Communist Party and had written a book, "From Slavery to Freedom," that he had written and had been published in Poland.

NEW YORK (UPI) — In 1942, a young actor named Richard Burton had a minor role in a movie called "Midnight Sun." Today Burton is a star and the director is none other than Sami Gruenther, one of those success stories that can't be explained by anything if he has the right help, too.

At the time Burton was a young actor in New York, he was seen performing in the big city. He attended Broadway show, "Very Merry May," and then drew the attention of Frank Lippert, who brought him to Hollywood.

The brought him to Hollywood with MGM's contract.

At his first time with a studio, Burton was immediately happy and became a favorite of the studio's top executives.

"My sister Eileen," Bob Hosking-Russell and Janet had him get into the business of writing scripts and learned and taught him how to do it.

After Burton had made his first film, he was asked to direct another film.
